

How the yearbook course is different from other courses

What other course will you make something with tangible results that you can see and enjoy 10, 25, 50 years later?

What other course can you make something as sentimental?

What other course will produce a product that virtually every student own?

What other course can you do something that you can create a professional product, learn industry related skills, express your humour, express your artistry, or create something you can be truly be proud of?

What other course will have such consequences if you mess up?

Perhaps drama is one of them, but consider making an ugly looking page that everyone will have to look at.

What other course will have such consequences if you do not meet the deadlines?

You will lose marks in other courses, but consider missing the deadline for the yearbook front cover and just having a white cover. Or consider missing the colour deadline and have the page become black and white? Or consider missing other section deadlines, and instead of receiving your yearbook at the end of the year, you will have to pick it up in September. What happens to the graduating students who have left already?

Who looks at the yearbook?

The entire school

Your friends

Your family

Your future spouse

Your future children

Is someone from high school become famous, perhaps a magazine like people, perhaps a talk show like Jay Leno, or a celebrity entertainment show like Entertainment Tonight.
